

set up in the university library extension, which is the study of the

to be a

RESEARCH PROJECTS

A considerable number of research projects relevant to the Golan Jewish Centre are currently in progress at the University of Sussex.

Refugees' (Chris Poles), 'The Contribution

Refugees to Journalism and the Media' (Chris Poles).

swing research appointees, Fellow research from October 1966

REPORT FROM

When Professor Emma Augusta's lecture on 'The Wandering Jew' was presented to a large audience of academics and invited guests in April 1994, it was obvious that the University of Sussex supported the Support Group has managed to find a sum approaching £175,000 in less than one year. This includes £40,000 for a research scholarship from the Rolf Schild Trust and £25,000 donation from the

the receives almost daily availability of financial support from and amongst the presenting Jewish Refugees.

inquiries about the

are seen as when universities face

the support of the Jewish community in the

the support of the Jewish community in the

the support of the Jewish community in the

the support of the Jewish community in the

the support of the Jewish community in the

II

II

II

II

II

II

II

II

II

II

II

II

II

II

II

II

II

II

II

II

II